The subject of a sentence is the person, place, or thing the sentence tells about.

- The complete subject includes all the words in the subject.
- The simple subject is a noun—the main word in the complete subject.
- A compound subject has two or more nouns that make up the subject.

Turn these sentence fragments into complete sentences by adding a subject. Write each complete sentence on the line.

1. are very dry.

   __________________________________________

2. live for 200 years!

   __________________________________________

3. come out at night.

   __________________________________________

4. come out during the day.

   __________________________________________

5. are reading about deserts.

   __________________________________________

6. caught the lizard.

   __________________________________________

7. are eaten by coyotes.

   __________________________________________

8. is dangerous.

   __________________________________________
The predicate tells what the subject does or did.
The complete predicate includes all the words in the predicate.
The simple predicate is the verb—the action word or words in the complete predicate.
A compound predicate has two or more verbs.

Turn these fragments into complete sentences by adding a predicate. Write each complete sentence on the line.

1. Plants in the deserts

2. Most spiders

3. Dangerous scorpions

4. A quick coyote

5. Hungry lizards

6. The spines of a cactus

7. On their field trip, the students

Name

• The subject of a sentence tells whom or what the sentence is about.
• The predicate of a sentence tells what the subject does or is.
• You can sometimes correct a sentence fragment by adding a subject or a predicate.

Read these sentence fragments and turn them into complete sentences by adding a subject or predicate.

1. This desert

2. Walked a long way

3. Heard the wind in the distance

4. The coyote on the hill

5. Was very thirsty

6. A scorpion

7. The kids and their parents

8. Looked for water

At Home: With your child, write sentence fragments on a piece of paper. Exchange papers and add a subject or predicate to each fragment.
• A complete sentence contains both a subject and a predicate.
• You can sometimes correct a sentence fragment by adding a subject or a predicate.

Rewrite the advertisement. Correct the sentence fragments, punctuation, and capitalization.

A brand new video “Desert Adventure” must find water in the desert. Scorpions and coyotes will be after you. Is there water behind the mesquite trees. Watch out for a rattlesnake can you escape them all? Enjoy the excitement of this game.
A. Draw a line separating the complete subject from the complete predicate in each sentence. Then write the simple subject and the simple predicate on the line.

example: A cactus | stores water. cactus, stores

1. Desert weather is very dry. ____________________________________________
2. Wood rats in the desert build huge nests. ________________________________
3. The skin of a lizard seals water inside it. _________________________________

6. John packed some snacks and drank lots of water.
   Subject: __________________________________________
   Predicate: _______________________________________

7. Roadrunners and scorpions live in the desert.
   Subject: __________________________________________
   Predicate: _______________________________________

8. The spider spun a web and caught the insect.
   Subject: __________________________________________
   Predicate: _______________________________________

9. Rabbits and coyotes run very fast.
   Subject: __________________________________________
   Predicate: _______________________________________

10. The darkness and cool air refresh me at night.
    Subject: _________________________________________
    Predicate: ______________________________________
Look at the picture below. Add a subject or a predicate to each sentence describing the picture.

1. ______________________________ gives some shade.
2. Prickly cacti ______________________________
3. The ______________________________ was ready to strike.
4. A bird called a roadrunner ______________________________
5. ______________________________ are in the desert.
A simple sentence contains one subject and one predicate. It contains one complete thought.

Two simple sentences may be joined to form a compound sentence, which contains two subjects and two predicates. It contains two complete thoughts.

A conjunction is used to combine the two sentences. And, but, and or are conjunctions.

Add a comma followed by and, but, or or to combine each pair of simple sentences into one compound sentence.

1. Elks have come back to the park. Wolves have returned, too.

2. I would like to visit the park often. I live far too away.

3. Visitors like the flowers in the park. They should not pick them.

4. You can look at the geysers in the park. You can enjoy the waterfalls instead.

5. I love Yellowstone Park. My brother prefers the beach.

6. My aunt came with me to the park. She said it was beautiful.
A compound subject contains two or more simple subjects that have the same predicate.

- My mother and my sister looked at the map.

A compound predicate contains two or more simple predicates that have the same subject.

- The leaves fall and cover the ground.

You can join two sentences that have two subjects or two predicates with the word and or or.

Combine each pair of sentences to form one sentence using a compound subject or a compound predicate.

1. Some logs are 100 feet long. They are very colorful.

I want to be a chef who invents new, delicious dishes for people to enjoy! I decided this after visiting a new restaurant a few days ago. All of the mens, womans, and childs there watched the chef with great excitement. I watched him handle his long, sharp knifes carefully. Effortlessly, he diced potatos and tomatoeies into halfs and quarters. The shrimps and fishies sizzled as he cooked them on the hot grill. When our excellent meal arrived, we really sank our toothes into it. That’s when I decided cooking must be a fun way to be creative.

I found Akimi Gibson's book, Lewis Howard Latimer: an inventive Mind, very interesting. Latimer, an African-American inventor, was born in the mid-1800s. He made drawings of other inventors' creations, which were used to apply for patents. Then Latimer's own ideas for inventions began to unfold. He helped improve the lavatories on trains and assisted with Alexander Graham Bell's invention of the telephone. While working for the U. S. Electric Lighting Company, he found a way to protect light bulbs' filaments so they would not burn out quickly. This was a great improvement to Thomas Edison's lightbulb. Gibson's biography of Latimer is an informative one.

Rewrite each sentence in the scientific observation below. Remember to use forms of good and bad correctly.

QUESTION: What is the best way to approach a horse?

OBSERVATIONS: Calm horses have relaxed muscles, heads, and necks. Frightened horses may raise their heads and tense their muscles. Flattened ears are one of the most worst signs of fear.

Alan and Maria approached the horse named Bertha. The trainer, Marcos, was with them. (It is always goodest to have adults present for safety.) When Alan walked loudly toward Bertha from behind, her signs of fear grew worser. When Maria walked slowly and quietly toward Bertha from the left front side, Bertha stayed more calmer. She seemed to like this approach much more better.

CONCLUSION: Approaching a horse from the front or side is goofer than approaching from behind.

An adverb is a word that tells more about a verb. Some adverbs tell how an action takes place. Most adverbs that tell how end in -ly. They are formed by adding -ly to an adjective.

Read the magazine article below and circle the six incorrect adverbs. Then write the words correctly on the lines below.

When the gold miners of 1849 were looking for gold, they frequent found shiny stones in their pans. However, not all were true gold. Fool’s gold, also called pyrite, is a stone that some miners mistaken confused with the real thing. What if you ever find a rock that looks like gold? These three ways can quick help you find out if it is real gold or fool’s gold.

First, look careful at the color. Both are shiny and yellow-colored, but real gold also has a silver tone. The color of fool’s gold is more like brass. Next, look at the shape. Fool’s gold usual forms cubes and larger shapes. Real gold comes in chunks, flakes, or sheets. Last, brisk rub it against another hard object and smell it. Gold has no smell, but fool’s gold will smell a little like rotten eggs. Maybe that’s why they call it fool’s gold!

The New Kid in Class

Last month, I started going to a new school. I didn’t know nobody at this school. At first, I thought there wasn’t no way I would be comfortable here.

The teacher introduced me to the class. I had to tell them a little about myself. Everyone was laughing at me. I didn’t have no idea what to say. I told the class about how I’d seen a real bear far off in the woods.

Instead of laughing at me, the students were all listening to me. They asked me lots of questions. I still don’t know if I’ll get used to this new school, but my first day didn’t turn out so bad.

At Home: Have your child read the above dialogue aloud. Invite your child to add one or two more lines to it.
Read the passage below. Combine each pair of underlined sentences into one sentence by adding a prepositional phrase. Write the combination sentences on the lines below.

I read an interesting book. It was about ants. The book says that ants are one of the greatest insects around. Ants protect plants. They protect them from other insects. Also, they feed the dirt with good things so that we can grow pretty flowers, like Mr. Chang’s pink roses! There are three kinds of ants that help each other. They help to get things done.

Worker ants look after the other ants. They do this by gathering food, watching the queen and her eggs, and building the anthill. Male ants don’t live long, but they help the queen produce lots of eggs. Finally, there’s the queen ant. She is the mother of all the ants. Without her, none of the ants would have anything to do! I recommend this book to all kids who want to learn more about ants and the way they live.
